D&K Launches New Custom Coating Website

Elk Grove Village, IL – (September 2, 2015) – D&K, a quality manufacturer of print finishing solutions, has launched a new custom coating website. This website focuses on D&K's coating capabilities including specialty topcoats and adhesive coatings. The new site can be accessed at www.dkcoatingtechnologies.com.

Dkcoatingtechnologies.com offers visitors a detailed understanding of the custom coating process from start to finish. The website highlights D&K's coating capabilities using technologies such as slot die, direct gravure, and microgravure. A prominent contact form also provides quick access to D&K's technical experts for questions and assistance with custom coating projects.

The new website is also compatible with all popular browsers and mobile technologies including smart phones and tablets.
